Latest Fish Story.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Coe and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tellam, of Washington, who were fishing in the Potomac near Aqueduct bridge, tell of a wonderful species of fish which they saw. About five feet in length, bulky, black and sleek, like an eel, it rose ten feet out of the water, twisted itself in the air, and, falling back into the river, disappeared, accompanied by a great commotion of the water. Twice within a few seconds the strange creature repeated the performance, and, according to spectators, so great was the fear of the thing that all fishermen in small boats promptly left the river and gave the thing all the room it required for its strange exercises. "It was about 5 o'clock when this thing appeared the first time," said Mr. Coe, "and I could hardly believe my eyes. It looked more like a large barrel painted black than anything I could compare it with. But it was certainly alive, for it splashed about at a terrific rate, making large waves that rocked the canoes until there was danger of capsizing."

[This monster of the deep which has made its way into fresh water, it seems, passed by Alexandria without making its presence known. It may, however, cavort about our docks, creeks and coves on his return to Neptune's domains.]

A Dangerous Place.

The east end of the Wilkes street tunnel is in need of immediate attention, and the Southern Railway Company which has made a cut through the square running from Lee to Union street, thus virtually appropriating it to themselves, should be compelled immediately to place a substantial safeguard on the crest of the high embankment at the northeast corner of Wilkes and Lee streets. Present conditions are exceedingly dangerous, as part of the rail fence erected some years ago has been demolished, and sooner or later a child will make a mistake, roll down the incline to the railroad track probably in front of a train and another distressing accident similar to that of last week will follow. There should be something more substantial than an open fence of the cheapest and flimsiest style under which children can crawl or roll. A wall similar to that at the west end of the tunnel should be required of the company, or an iron fence. Nothing unsightly should be tolerated. This is a matter which should enlist the immediate attention of the authorities of the city before an accident occurs.

Shipbuilding in Alexandria.

The following appears in the Washington correspondence of the Richmond Times-Dispatch of today:

"It is reported that steps are being taken to organize a company which will undertake shipbuilding on a large scale in Alexandria. It is stated that considerable capital for the company is already in sight, and a gentleman of Alexandria, who is interested in the formation of the company, said last night that he believed the total amount desired would be obtained. The formation of this company and the location of such a large enterprise at Alexandria is but another evidence of the recent rapid growth of the old city, which is developing as rapidly, if not more rapidly, than any other in Virginia."

[Neither the gentlemen owning the shipyard in this city nor their friends know anything concerning the above, while they one and all expressed the earnest hope that such a report would crystallize into a fact.]

Police Court.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Edward Dobbins, arrested by Officer Lyles charged with disorderly conduct in an electric car, was dismissed.

William and Joseph Powers, arrested by Officers Lyles and Henderson charged with fighting, were fined $10 each.

Mary Brown, colored, arrested by Officer Knight charged with assaulting Susan Gaines, was dismissed.

Henry Scott, colored, arrested by Officer Henderson charged with fighting, was fined $2.50.

Ben Hughes, colored, arrested by Officer Knight charged with a similar offense, was fined $2.50.

William Grimes, charged with running a bicycle over Jessie Burke, was dismissed.

Rose Roberts, arrested by Officer Young charged with maintaining a nuisance on her premises, was dismissed upon a promise to abate the same.

The Fishery.

A few straggling shad are being netted below this city, but the fishing season is virtually over. The scarcity of shad for two consecutive years has caused some to suppose that the species of the finny tribe is destined to become as scarce as a few and far between. It is generally believed that trapnets in the bay and in the mouth of the river are responsible for these conditions, as shad are intercepted before they reach this section. A few of this species were offered for sale by gillers this morning. They brought from 25 to 40 cents each.

Beaten Into Insensibility.

A little boy was beaten into insensibility by a companion on south Fairfax street last evening. The two were playing, but became involved in a dispute which resulted in a fight, during which one of the youngsters beat the other on the head with a stick until he stunned him. The injured child was taken in an insensible condition to his home and was resuscitated after considerable difficulty.

Anniversary Celebration.

Alexandria Division, No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians will celebrate their tenth anniversary next Sunday evening at the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum Hall. ## A Little Nonsense Now and Then.

It looks as though the peace crop will be a failure this year.

The Czar would do well to get rid of the idea that Charles M. Schwab is still traveling for his health.

The frequent statement from the far East that "more firing was heard at sea" leaves us as much at sea as ever.

Banker Bigelow amended the old adage so as to read: A fool and the money of somebody else are soon parted.

Tom Watson is opposed to rings, which may account for the fact that the bell on the cover of his magazine is cracked.

The war in the far East is declared to have broken the record in some respects, and the diplomatists haven't had their inning yet.

There may or may not be a great deal of significance in the statement that the Kaiser intends to make his coming visit to Fez, Morocco, particularly impressive.

The Japs complain of "the elasticity of the French pledge of neutrality," which is one reason why their warships have had to do so much "rubbering" during the past few weeks.

The name of the French diplomatic representative in the far East is the suggestive one of General Beau. He has been so exasperatingly deliberate in sending information in connection with the strained relations of this country with Japan as to suggest the idea that perhaps France has more than one string attached to her Beau.

Senator Foraker has not been asked to attend the coming republican convention in Ohio, although it is customary to invite prominent members of the party on such occasions. It may be that the promoters of the Taft boom, which is to have been some wind pumped into it during the convention, feared an untimely outbreak of the fire alarm gong.

Nan Patterson Threatened.

Interest in the fate of Nan Patterson, the chorus girl thrice on trial for the alleged murder of Caesar Young, was revived a bit yesterday by the publication of a threatening letter received by the woman's mother, in Washington.

The letter, which was forwarded to Lawyer Abraham Levy, was addressed to Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Washington, D. C., Nan's father's correct name is John B. Patterson, but he has been known throughout the trial as "J. Randolph Patterson." Mr. Levy remarked that the writer of the letter evidently knew the proper name of the girl's father. The letter was as follows:

New York, Station B, May 5, 1905.

Mrs. J. B. Patterson: I am sorry to cause you some pain, but you will not see Nan. Although she cheated justice of the law she has far more to deal with, and she will never go far away from the Tombs. I am the victim of another such woman as your daughter. I have sworn that Caesar Young's murderers shall not go unpunished.

Wednesday night, if the jury acquitted Nan I would have shot her. I have committed suicide, as I have wished to for the last ten months. But my name will be famous yet as a lover of justice. The American people shall know that one man had the courage to avenge Young's murder. I write this so you will know that I am in no way connected with Young's friends. Yours in death.

ARMED BRAWLER.

Mr. Levy said he regarded the letter as having been written by a crank.

Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

John Adams, alias D. C. Jack, was convicted in the United States Court in Norfolk Saturday of robbing the post-office at Waverly, Va., and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary at Atlanta. The charge against him of robbing the postoffice at Manassas was nolle prossed. The star witness against Adams was John McCarthy, the so-called reformed burglar, who is now serving a sentence in the State penitentiary in Vermont. There were a number of other witnesses, however, who made up a strong chain of evidence against the prisoner. Adams is known to have been connected with several of the robberies committed, and a half dozen crooks under arrest at Richmond, as well as James Delay, Charles Cross and Frank Williams, in jail in Norfolk, are said to have been members of the organized gang by which the robberies were committed. The gang has robbed post-offices at Waverly, Ashland, Louisa, Gordonsville, Orange, Port-Norfolk, and have twice rifled the office at Manassas. They at one time were quartered in Alexandria.

Appointments.

Governor Montague made these appointments yesterday:

Board of Visitors to Mount Vernon (to serve one year)—Archer Anderson, of Richmond; Thomas Smith, of Warren; R. B. Davis, of Petersburg; Gardner L. Boothe, of Alexandria; A. Moore, Jr., of Berryville.

Virginia Commission to Promote Uniformity of Legislation—R. T. Barton, of Winchester; A. A. Phlegar, of Christianburg; John Garland Pollard, of Richmond. Member of the State Board of Dental Examiners (to succeed Dr. Richard L. Simpson)—Dr. J. P. Stiff, of Fredericksburg.

Charges Discrimination.

A. M. Aiken, of Danville, yesterday in Washington read a petition before the interstate commerce commission from the city of Danville, charging that the Southern Railway and its connections discriminated against Danville in favor of Richmond and Lynchburg. He said that the interstate commerce commission had ordered a reduction of rates, but the courts had reversed the decision deciding that the charges were not unreasonable. He wanted the commission given power to affix rates. Danville did have competing lines, but they had been acquired by the Southern Railway. Lynchburg had three competing lines and Richmond had water transportation.

Cement Brick Machine.

If the working machine now nearing completion meets the expectations of its inventor, at Indianapolis, it will revolutionize the method of making bricks of cement. It is now possible for three men, working with hand machinery, to make 3,000 cement bricks a day. The new machine, employing five men besides the inventor who mix the cement, will, its inventor asserts, make 6,000 cement bricks in an hour. The inventor says by the use of the machine it will be possible to manufacture common cement bricks for about $2.50 a thousand, whereas the cost of manufacturing clay bricks is about $5 or $6 a thousand.

Bearing Important Letter.

Manchester, Eng., May 9.—The Dispatch says that Sir Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador to Washington, who arrived here recently from America, is the bearer of an important autograph letter to King Edward, from President Roosevelt on the subject of the war in the far East, and the possibilities of bringing about a cessation of hostilities.

The letter, according to the dispatch, deals at length with the war situation, and contains suggestions as to the best ways whereby peace could be arranged. It concludes with a tribute to the King, showing the high appreciation in which President Roosevelt holds his worth for the furthering of the world's peace. It is understood that King Edward will entrust an autograph reply to Joseph Choate, the retiring American Ambassador.

The Dispatch in quoting a prominent naval officer says that the Japanese have organized a reserve fleet which will be strong enough to keep the sea communications between Japan and Manchuria open effectively, even in case Admiral Togo should be defeated by Rojstevensky.

This fleet, the officer claims, consists of four or five battleships, in good condition, and twenty fast converted cruisers. The vessels have been acquired secretly from three different countries. The battleships are powerful enough to give a good account of themselves. The converted ships have been armed and fitted out with new engines, making them very serviceable. This work has been done by the Japanese themselves.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—That President Roosevelt is anxious for the cessation of hostilities in the far East and that he would regard the conclusion of peace, through efforts initiated by himself, as the crowning achievement of his career, is well known. Sir Mortimer Durand will return to Washington shortly, and report to the President the result of his talk with King Edward on the subject. While, in official circles here, it is regarded as too much to expect that peace may be concluded in the very near future, yet it is believed that in the exchanges between the President and the other neutral rulers, the foundation is being laid for the conclusion of hostilities.

Want Woman Respected.

Trenton, N. J., May 9.—As Friday, the date set for the hanging of Anna Valentina, who murdered Rosa Salcha, at Hackensack, draws near, strong influences are being brought to bear on Governor Stokes to stay the execution, and it is thought that he will take favorable action. Petitions for executive clemency are pouring in upon the governor from all parts of the State and every surrounding State, also from the Italian government. Through the Italian consul in New York, the Italian Ambassador at Washington, has telegraphed an urgent plea to Governor Stokes to grant even a short respite to the condemned woman that an appeal may be taken to the United States Courts. The Italian government has also authorized the expenditure of whatever sum of money may be required for legal services and costs in taking the case in a last final appeal to the federal courts. Antoinette Tolla, the other Italian woman who is sentenced to die by hanging, in June, will have the same influence brought to bear to save her from the hangman's noose, when her time to die approaches.

Trenton, N. J., May 9.—Judge Lansing has refused writ of habeas corpus in the Valentina case. He, however, allowed an appeal of his decision, carrying the case to the United States Supreme Court, pending the decision of which, the woman's life will be spared.

Nan Patterson.

New York, May 9.—Nan Patterson is eagerly awaiting the determination of District Attorney Jerome as to whether he will admit her to bail or not. The actress feels that the State will never bring her to trial again, and she frets at what she thinks is an unjust restraint of her liberty. District Attorney Jerome gave no intimation today what he would do toward admitting the actress to bail. Justice Foster has not yet signed the motion made by the counsel for the J. Morgan Smiths for their release from the Tombs. Justice Foster has also before him a motion of the District Attorney Jerome detaining the pair until he can determine whether they shall be re-indicted for conspiracy.

Schwab's Contract With Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 9.—Prince Meschtersky, editor of the Grashdanin, says that Charles M. Schwab before leaving St. Petersburg, said that it necessary he would erect $2,000,000 plant to complete the orders he has received from the Russian government. The Prince quotes Mr. Schwab as saying that the American people having the friendliest feelings possible for Russia, and that a victory by Admiral Togo over Rojstevensky's fleet would grieve America, as much as it would the Russians.

Wife Murder and Suicide.

Richmond, Va., May 9.—Mentally unbalanced by ill health and despondent, Frederick W. Hill, a machinist, killed his wife at 2 o'clock this morning and committed suicide, making orphans of the eight children of the couple. Hill used a six chamber revolver. He fired three bullets into his wife's body, and three into his own. Before he fell he snapped the empty pistol in the face of a 12-year-old son.
